

Meredosia Power Station

“If you have ever wanted to be part of a team that strives to be the best at what they do and take pride in what they represent then Meredosia Power Station is a place that you should strongly consider. Meredosia’s workforce is best exemplified by their flexibility and “can do” attitude, which is anchored by their respect for each other’s contribution to the attainment of the station’s objectives while not veering from their shared values. Meredosia is interested in people who like challenging and fulfilling work, who do not accept the status quo and desire a venue where they can “stretch their wings” and realize their full potential.”

— Mike Long, Plant Manager

Meredosia Power Station has a rich history dating back to the 1940s. Construction began in 1946 and Units 1 and 2 were placed in service two years later. At that time the Meredosia plant was rated at 130 megawatts. Unit 3 went into service in 1960 and is rated at 220 megawatts. Five coal-fired boilers supply steam to these three units. Unit 4, an oil-fired boiler that supplies 200 megawatts of power, began operation in 1975. Unit 4 includes two 4,607,000 gallon oil storage tanks and an oil barge unloading dock.
