

Study Area Map

The Lakeland Area Reliability Project will improve energy reliability for local communities and the surrounding region, improve resiliency to minimize power limitations and impacts to local communities and support long-term economic growth in the region.